

A Proven Approach to Preventing Workplace Violence in Health Care

Equip your teams with practical skills to prevent escalation, reduce risk, and strengthen patient outcomes.

CPI is the global leader in helping health care organizations move from reactive crisis response to proactive prevention with evidence-based training that equips staff across roles—from nurses and frontline caregivers to security teams and leaders—to recognize risk early and respond with confidence.

How CPI's Scalable Train-the-Trainer Model Works

1 We train and certify selected staff members as CPI Certified Instructors.

2 Those Certified Instructors return to train co-workers across teams and roles, customized to your policies and procedures.

3 We provide your teams with materials, program updates, refreshers, and ongoing support.

The Proof Is in the Results

Health care organizations using CPI training see measurable improvements in safety, staff confidence, and operations.

85% reduction in emergency safety interventions

88% reduction in misconduct costs

58% of health care facilities reduced workers' compensation claims

Training Programs Designed for Every Level of Risk

We provide a tiered training approach that allows you to match training with each staff member's level of exposure to challenging behaviors.
